PACKING TIPS

1. If you're shy about baring all in the baths (or wish to go to the co-ed baths), be sure to bring a bathing suit. Also, pack a bathing cap if you plan on using the pools in the baths.
2. "All the bathhouses in Budapest are great. Leave all your valuables at the hotel (hidden from view). Only take to the bath the items needed to get in (money, your wallet, etc.)."—TripAdvisor Member, Dallas, Texas
3. "When visiting some of the churches, you may wish to bring a shawl or something to cover your shoulders, ladies, if you're wearing something skimpy."—TripAdvisor Member, Bournemouth, England
4. "Use ATMs: That's the most convenient, cheapest and most secure way to get your money!"—TripAdvisor Member, Linz, Austria
5. "To understand more about what the Hungarian people went through during communism, read The Bridge at Andau by James Michener."—TripAdvisor Member

Inside BUDAPEST

The capital city of Hungary as we know it didn't form until 1873, when three different towns—Buda, Pest and Óbuda—united to create the modern-day Budapest. Geographically, the River Danube shapes the city, with industrial Pest on the right bank; hilly, historic Buda on the left bank and Óbuda on the outer edges of the city. Its continental climate brings short but bitterly cold winters and long, warm, sunny summers.

The area has been successively ruled by many different peoples—Celts, Romans, Mongols, Germans, Austrians, to name a few. And the mark of each remains on the Magyar city in cobbled streets, hidden courtyards and old-world architecture.

Since the departure of communism, investments are revitalizing Budapest, bringing in new hotels, malls and clubs. Yet at its heart, Budapest remains unpretentious. So go ahead, savor a cup of gulyás, sample the pastries at a local café, soak in the thermal waters of one of its 14 baths, wander through castles and centuries-old churches. Experience the wonders of Budapest.

FAMILIES

The Palace of Wonders, with attractions for both younger and older children, is a hands-on science museum with "exhibitions and smart interactive gadgets" that promise to entertain (and educate) grown-ups, too.—TripAdvisor Member, New Orleans, La.

Palace of Wonders, Fény u. 20-22, 1024, | 336 4000

While grown-up engineers drive the trains, at the Children's Railway, kids ages 10 to 14 operate the switches and signals, take care of tickets and work with the passengers. "A fantastic ride through the hills, all enhanced by the enthusiastic youngsters working on the trains."—TripAdvisor Member, Bath, England

Children's Railway, | 397 5392

"Budapest Zoo is an absolute must for everyone. It's quite old-fashioned in style, but all the nicer for being so."—TripAdvisor Member, Warrington, England

Budapest Zoo and Botanical Garden, Állatkerti krt. 6-12, | 273 4900

"...a breathtaking display"

ROMANCE

While you can take a guided tour to see the interior of the spectacular Hungarian State Opera House, the best way to appreciate it is by seeing a performance. "It is a beautiful building with an old-world feeling, paintings and big chandelier."—TripAdvisor Member, Hampshire, U.K.

Hungarian State Opera House (Magyar Állami Operaház), Andrássy u. 22, | 332 7914

Matthias Church "is a mid-13th century church named after the much-loved 15th-century Renaissance king who contributed the towers and who was twice married here. Beautiful architecture!"—TripAdvisor Member, Lighthouse Point, Fla.

Matthias Church (Matyas Templom), Szentháromság Ter. 2, | 355 5657

"The Danube River is a great stretch to take a cruise. If you can, go at night. The city lights up all the bridges, buildings and monuments for a breathtaking display of artistry and national pride."—TripAdvisor Member

Danube River, Boat Station Pier 7, 5th district, Vigado Ter.

BUDGET

The Ludwig Museum of Contemporary Art “houses a collection of international contemporary art, the only museum in Hungary that does so. It also features the works of notable contemporary Hungarian artists.”—TripAdvisor Member, Budapest

Ludwig Museum of Contemporary Art, Komor Marcell u. 1, | 555 3444

The Castle Hill “is an area on the Buda side of Danube that is home to the ancient palace and other attractions such as St. Michael’s Church and Fisherman’s Bastion. You can cover all these attractions, by foot once you are in the Castle District.”—TripAdvisor Member, United States

Castle Hill (Varhegy), Szent György Ter.

Bargains await at the Central Market Hall. “A visit to this vast market is a must for people who want to experience the Budapest locals. It is a treat for the eyes.”—TripAdvisor Member, Falmouth, Mass.

Central Market Hall (Nagy Vasarcsarnok)

“It is a treat for the eyes.”

ADVENTURE

Not for the claustrophobic, exploring Matyas Caves “was very hard work, and downright frightening at times; however, we all felt a great sense of accomplishment at the end. It was something completely unique and gave you a new perspective on the thermal baths in Budapest—the caves were carved out by the thermal springs.”—TripAdvisor Member, Melbourne, Australia

Matyas Caves

“Varosliget is a great place to spend all day long. In summer, you can look at the architecture of Vajdahunyad Castle, feed the ducks, visit Szechenyi spas or visit a zoo and Vidam Park. In winter, it’s a perfect place for open-air ice skating.”—TripAdvisor Member

City Park (Varosliget), Behind Heroes’ Square (Hősök Tere)

“I’m not a very outdoorsy person, but I really enjoyed my tour of Pálvölgyi Cave. The cave is not difficult or treacherous for an in-shape adult or adolescent, as they have put hand rails and steps in where needed.”—TripAdvisor Member, Boston, Massachusetts

Pálvölgyi Cave, Szépvölgyi u. 162, | 325 9505

TripAdvisor members have posted more than 3,000,000 photos on the site. The good, the bad and the very candid. It’s almost like being there!

EDUCATIONAL/HISTORICAL

The House of Terror is a controversial but popular museum with “an impressive tour on how Hungarian people suffered under Germans, Hungarian fascists, Soviet Union and Hungarian communists and how, finally, they got their freedom after half a century of bad times.”—TripAdvisor Member, Alava, Spain

House of Terror, Andrásy u. 60, | 374 2664

The Nagy Zsinagóga, or Great Synagogue, is the largest synagogue in Europe. “Our guide gave some interesting background not only for the building but also on Jewish culture in Budapest during the last century and a half.”—TripAdvisor Member, Alava, Spain

Nagy Zsinagóga and the National Jewish Museum, Dohány u. 2, | 342 8949

See “Budapest on display” at the Historical Museum of Budapest. “It gives a detailed overview of Budapest’s history, as well as giving one the opportunity to have a look inside the Castle.”—TripAdvisor Member, Malta

Historical Museum of Budapest (Budapesti Történelmi Múzeum), Buda Castle, Szent György Ter. 2, Budavári Palota “E” épület, | 487 8801

“...that’s the magic of it.”

RELAXATION

Heroes’ Square “is a must-see. It’s a very beautiful monument to the unknown soldiers who died in the various wars in which Hungary was involved.”—TripAdvisor Member, United States

Heroes’ Square (Hősök Tere)

Pick any of the many wonderful thermal baths in Budapest for a soothing respite from the bustle. At the Széchenyi Baths, you can use the outdoor pool year-round. “There are inside and outside pools; you’ll probably love the outside ones the most. The building itself is old, but that’s the magic of it.”—TripAdvisor Member, Budapest

Széchenyi Baths and Pool, XIV, Állatkerti krt. 11, | 363 3210

“After paying an admission fee at the House of Hungarian Wines, we were given a glass and then allowed to try the many wines on offer. We were allowed to proceed at our own pace and were not put under pressure to buy—but of course, we did.”—TripAdvisor Member, Durham, U.K.

House of Hungarian Wines, Szentharomszög ter 6, | 212 1031

What's the TOUR

How to Get Around

"Tour the city on a Segway, the one-man people-moving contraption. People look at you like you are from Mars. You make great time around the monuments and stop when you want and have a hilariously fun time doing it."—TripAdvisor Member, San Francisco, Calif.

The public transportation system "consists of a combination of the bus, trolley, tram, metro and train lines and is streamlined so that tickets for all of them can generally be purchased at the same locations."—TripAdvisor Member

"Public transportation virtually stops in Budapest after eleven o'clock at night (except for night buses, which can be up to two hours apart) so travelers interested in enjoying the nightlife will want to also learn about taxis in the area."—TripAdvisor Member

Take the tour of Parliament: "The tour covers the main entrance stair and hall, the Hungarian Crown Jewels, one of the lobbies and the old House of Lords. It's well worth taking to have a look at the building, even if politics doesn't interest you."—TripAdvisor Member, Scotland

Nancsi Neni, II, Ördögárok u. 80, | 397 2742

"If you want to experience true Hungarian, Kehli is the place. This non-fancy restaurant offers authentic, traditional food, gypsy music and family atmosphere. It reminded me of my childhood!"—TripAdvisor Member, Zurich, Switzerland

Kehli, Mokus u. 22, | 368 0613

"The food was very good and very cheap" at Arnyas, a hundred-year-old restaurant serving up Hungarian fare with live music and a play corner for the kids.—TripAdvisor Member, Guildford, U.K.

Arnyas Restaurant & Garden, Diós árok 16, District 12, | 212 5681

ROMANCE

"We had a fantastic meal at Fausto's. The ambiance is very sophisticated and romantic. The staff were extremely attentive. The food was delicious, and we were pleasantly surprised at the price."—TripAdvisor Member

Fausto's, Szekely Mihaly u. 2, | 877 6210

"Gundel is an absolute must if you really want a special treat! Set menus include specially selected wine per course. On one floor there's a mini orchestra and on the ground floor a string quartet. The atmosphere is second to none, and it is an unforgettable evening!"—TripAdvisor Member, Dublin, Ireland

Gundel, Állatketti u. 2, | 468 4040

"Ristorante Krizia is my favorite place for a romantic tête-à-tête. The quiet, discreet and elegant dining room is attended to by quality staff and a superb, authentic Italian kitchen."—TripAdvisor Member, Budapest

Ristorante Krizia, Mozsar u. 12, | 331 8711

BUDGET

Momotaro Ramen is "excellent value for money! Visited this restaurant the day after an expensive and average meal at a restaurant nearby. What a difference! Friendly and helpful staff. Good, tasty food at an amazing price."—TripAdvisor Member

Momotaro Ramen, Szechenyi u. 16, | 269 2037

"When my Hungarian friends suggested Paprika, we knew it had to be great! The portions are huge and represent a great value. The Paprika platter has four kinds of meat, rice, potatoes and vegetables. Though advertised to feed two, it could have easily fed three!"—TripAdvisor Member, Desborough, U.K.

Paprika, Dozsa Gyorgy ut 72, 70 574 6508

"Don't pass up Ruszwurm, one of the city's best pastry shops, located on the Buda side. Believe me, it's well worth the hike up the hill!"—TripAdvisor Member, New York, N.Y.

Ruszwurm Cukrászda, Szentháromság u. 7, | 375 5284

"...it's well worth the hike up the hill!"

WHERE to eat

HEALTH-CONSCIOUS

“The food at Govinda is extremely good quality, and the prices are very affordable. Though I don’t usually frequent vegetarian restaurants, this one is an exception. Well worth a visit from meat-lovers and meat-haters alike.”—TripAdvisor Member

Govinda, Vigyazo Ferenc u. 4, | 269 1625

Located in a former 18th-century monastery, Rivalda offers an ample vegetarian menu. “Its atmosphere is elegant, but not stiff or formal. At night, there is live dinner music.” —TripAdvisor Member

Rivalda, Színház u. 5-9, | 489 0236

For Middle Eastern vegetarian treats such as shakshuka, sabich, falafel and “the best hummus in Budapest,” try the Hummus Bar.—TripAdvisor Member

Hummus Bar, Kertesz u. 39, | 321 7477

...“elegant, but not stiff or formal.”

HIDDEN GEMS

“We couldn’t have been more warmly welcomed, professionally treated or well fed” at Ket Szerecsen. “The food was good. Not Cordon Bleu or pretentious, trendy stuff—just simple dishes, well presented and enjoyable.”—TripAdvisor Member

Ket Szerecsen, Nagymezo u. 14, | 343 1984

Hungarian ballads waft around you as you feast on Hungarian fare, with an emphasis on meat and game at Kisbuda Gyöngye, “an excellent, authentic, non-touristy place,” popular with both visitors and locals.—TripAdvisor Member, Budapest

Kisbuda Gyöngye, Kenyeres u. 34, | 368 6402

“I will give you a local secret that we hate to share: Cafe Kor has been an institution here for many years and one of my favorites for visiting friends and family. It’s a small restaurant with daily specials ranging from fish to traditional Hungarian fare.”—TripAdvisor Member, Budapest

Cafe Kor, Sas u. 17, | 311 0053
